Welcome to the Spring Weekend 2026

This Spring I can't wait to welcome you back to Blackfriars Priory, to gather within its ancient walls with Britain's finest historians ready to debate and reflect on the past and where we stand today. Our 2026 theme, Power and Protest, invites us to journey across centuries hearing voices past and present, meeting those who have held authority and those who've challenged it, those who shaped events from thrones and those who changed the world from the streets. And with our events now live-streamed, join us wherever you are!

Welcome to the Gloucester History Festival

Spring Weekend

This is going to be a very special year for the Festival. In Spring we explore the stories beneath our feet here in Gloucestershire while reaching far beyond, uncovering extraordinary people and pivotal moments that shape our world. We'll be back in September with one of our biggest Autumn Festivals yet, bringing history to the heart of Gloucester. And this year we want more young people than ever to enjoy our free ticket scheme. Visit the website to find out more. So do book now for Spring and save the dates for this year's Autumn Festival from 5th to 20th September.

Gloucester & The 1926 General Strike

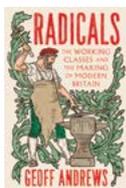

Tony Conder 10-11am £10 / £7 Livestreamed

Gloucester stood at the crossroads of industry and coalfield, with links both to the Forest of Dean and the national drama of 1926. Often characterised as a Communist plot, the General Strike was seen as a missed opportunity by the left. The Labour Party and TUC largely ignored it or retreated from it as soon as possible. The King was delighted no one was shot and Joseph Stalin used it to consolidate his position in the politburo. Little of this concerned Gloucester strikers, who took it as a comradely adventure. Leading historian Tony Conder explores the strike in Gloucester alongside both the national background, and the more bitter miners' strike in the Forest of Dean.

Radicals: Chartists, Suffragettes and Strikes

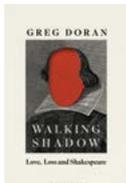

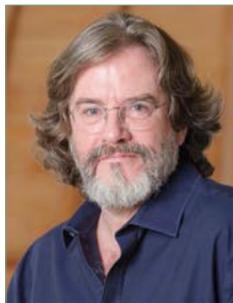

Geoff Andrews 12-1pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

Acclaimed historian Geoff Andrews' new book Radicals is a vivid and passionate journey through working class protest and struggle. He explores the Chartists and Peterloo, the bold experiment at Snigs End Chartist Colony, north of Gloucester, the courage of the Suffragettes, the hardships of the Jarrow March and the struggles of the Tolpuddle Martyrs. Join him for a fascinating exploration of dissent that shaped modern Britain and which still resonates today.

Greg Doran

Love, Loss and Shakespeare 2-3pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

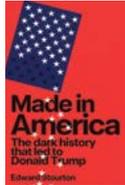

A globe-spanning detective story and a love letter in one, award-winning theatre director Greg Doran talks about his memoir, following his electrifying hunt for Shakespeare's surviving First Folios, from great libraries to hidden collections, piecing together the real, historical man behind the legend. Alongside a moving portrait of life with Antony Sher and their unforgettable work at the Royal Shakespeare Company, it is a gripping tale of passion, history and theatre. Chaired by Vernon Harwood.

'Deeply Enjoyable.' (Dame Harriet Walter).

Edward Stourton

The Dark History of Trump's America 4-5pm £12 / £7 Livestreamed

Is Trump a shocking aberration or the product of a long, turbulent American tradition? With the current conflict in the Middle East, BBC broadcaster and former Today programme presenter Edward Stourton delivers a gripping re-examination of President Trump and the forces that shaped him. With forensic insight and masterful storytelling, he traces the deep currents of power, protest and populism in US history, revealing how the past continues to shape America's present moment. Chaired by History Extra's Dave Musgrove.

In partnership with History Extra.

Pam Ayres

Doggedly Onward 6-7pm £12 / £7 Livestreamed

National treasure and Britain's best-loved poet Pam Ayres brings her trademark wit and warmth to a life well lived. From stories of a rural Oxfordshire childhood to Royal Command performances, her heart remains in the Cotswolds countryside - muddy lanes, loyal dogs and village life. By turns hilarious and deeply touching, her reflections on family, fame and fortitude create a vivid social history of modern Britain, resilient, eccentric and full of laughter. In conversation with fellow Cotswold-lover Mark Cummings.

Waldy & Bendy's Adventures in Art: The English Civil War

Bendor Grosvenor & Waldemar Januszczak 8-9pm £12 / £7 Livestreamed

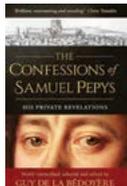

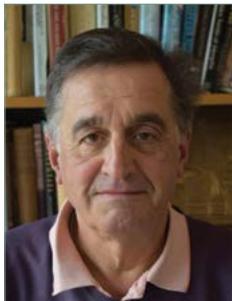

Bendor Grosvenor, top art historian and star of BBC4's Britain's Lost Masterpieces and Fake or Fortune? joins Waldemar Januszczak for a dazzling evening of Art Adventures. Expect great masterpieces under the microscope, bold opinions and brilliant storytelling as they look in depth at the artists of the English Civil War. Beautifully illustrated and gloriously entertaining, this is art history at its liveliest as Bendy and Waldy lock swords in a special live recording of Britain's favourite art podcast.

The Confessions of Samuel Pepys

Guy de la Bédoyère 10-11am £10 / £7 Livestreamed

We may think we know Samuel Pepys as Restoration England's most celebrated chronicler, living through the Plague and the Great Fire of London. But the truth is far darker. In a revealing and sometimes shocking new transcription of Pepys' coded diary, bestselling historian Guy de la Bédoyère uncovers passages long obscured or omitted in earlier editions, revealing Pepys' assaults on women and the ways in which he exploited his position and power. He discusses Samuel Pepys in the light of these discoveries.

This event is suitable for adults only.

The Battle of the Imjin River: 75 Years On

Robert Dixon, James Daniel & Nicola Nash 12-1pm £12 / £7 Livestreamed

This April marks 75 years since the battle that became a defining moment in the Korean War. Outnumbered by Chinese forces, the 1st Battalion, Gloucestershire Regiment held the line buying vital time for UN troops. Many were killed or captured, enduring harsh captivity in Chinese POW camps.

Robert Dixon, former Commanding Officer of the Glosters, Brigadier James Daniel from the UK's Strategic Command and top 'battlefield detective' Nicola Nash explore the battle, the mission to identify the fallen and whether, with the current state of the Army, we could commit such an expeditionary force today?

Chaired by Vernon Harwood.

The Cambridge Five: Stalin's Apostles

Antonia Senior 2-3pm £12 / £7 Livestreamed

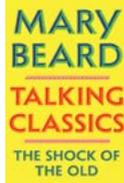

This year marks the 75th anniversary of the 1951 defection to Moscow of Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, the moment that first exposed the Cambridge spy ring and sent shockwaves through the Cold War world. In Stalin's Apostles, Antonia Senior revisits the infamous Cambridge Five, including Kim Philby and Anthony Blunt, revealing new facts, showing how their betrayal reshaped global politics and offering urgent lessons for understanding Russia's complex relationship with the West today.

Mary Beard

Talking Classics: The Shock of the Old 4-5pm £15 / £7 Livestreamed

What's exciting about a piece of bread 4,000 years old? Or some pots of paint abandoned in the eruption at Pompeii? One of Britain's best loved historians and presenters Mary Beard invites us to rediscover the ancient world in Talking Classics: The Shock of the Old, where surprising connections leap from ancient to modern. With lively stories, curious facts and a lifetime of wisdom, she shows why the art, literature and lives of Greece and Rome still matter to our world today. Join her for an irresistible and hugely entertaining celebration of the ancient world. Chaired by Janina Ramirez.

Cleopatra: Life & Legend

Lucy Hughes-Hallett 6-7pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

In this compelling talk, top historian Lucy Hughes-Hallett returns to the real woman behind the legend. Cleopatra, last ruler of the Ptolemaic dynasty, forged alliances with Caesar and Mark Antony, defended Egypt's independence and ruled as a formidable, multilingual monarch amid Roman expansion. From Chaucer and Shakespeare to Elizabeth Taylor, discover how she became one of history's most powerful and enduring icons. Introduced by Janina Ramirez.

Great Gloucestershire Women

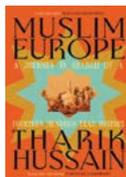

Janina Ramirez, Mark Cummings & Helen Timlin 8-9pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

From warrior queens to literary legends, reformers to record-breakers, discover the women who shaped Gloucestershire and helped change the world. From Anglo-Saxon warrior Queen Æthelflæd, ruling from Gloucester, to Beatrix Potter, inspired to write The Tailor of Gloucester, from suffragette pioneer Dorothea Beale to national treasure Jilly Cooper, our panel tonight debates their lives and legacies. Join historians Janina Ramirez, Mark Cummings and Helen Timlin to hear about their Gloucestershire heroines and then cast your vote! Chaired by Jo Durrant.

Muslim Europe: In Search Of A 1400 Year History

Tharik Hussain 10-11am £10 / £7 Livestreamed

Join prize-winning historian Tharik Hussain for a revelatory journey across a continent as he uncovers Islam's deep European roots, from the splendour of Spain's Alhambra to Cyprus' forgotten Sufi temples and the cultural brilliance of Muslim Spain. Far from a sideshow, Muslim civilisation helped shape Europe's art, science and medicine for over a millennium and in his beautifully illustrated talk he 'uncovers a world of which few are fully aware' (Colin Thubron).

'This is a book I've been longing for someone to write and Hussain is the man to write it.' William Dalrymple

Revealing the Real King Offa

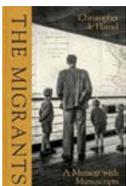

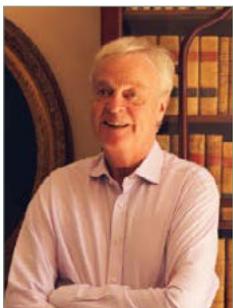

Rory Naismith 12-1pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

Before King Alfred and the dream of a united Anglo-Saxon kingdom, there was Offa. Best remembered as the builder of Offa's Dyke, he was far more than a frontier king. Ruling Mercia from 757 to 796, Offa dominated southern Britain, strengthened his realm and reshaped kingship itself. In a compelling new talk, top Cambridge historian Rory Naismith reveals an ambitious, image-conscious ruler who changed the course of English history.

Christopher de Hamel

Meetings with Remarkable Manuscripts 2-3pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

Christopher de Hamel, one of the world's best-known manuscript lovers, invites us into the candlelit world of the Book of Kells, the St Cuthbert Gospel and Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, bringing history's greatest manuscripts thrillingly to life. Intriguing and enthralling, he reveals these treasures as living witnesses to faith and ambition. In his new memoir, The Migrants: A Memoir With Manuscripts, he reflects on a lifetime's journey through books, borders and belonging.

Medieval Queens at War

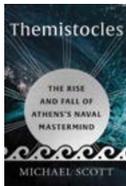

Alison Weir 4-5pm £12 / £7 Livestreamed

Alison Weir brings her acclaimed England's Medieval Queens series to a riveting close with Queens at War, weaving the lives of five fifteenth-century queens into the tumult of the Hundred Years' War and the Wars of the Roses. Expect vivid storytelling, meticulous research, and captivating portraits of Joan of Navarre, Katherine of Valois, Margaret of Anjou, Elizabeth Woodville and Anne Neville as they navigate love, loss and power in perilous times. Chaired by Jo Durrant.

The Rise & Fall of Athen's Greatest Star

Michael Scott 6-7pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

The ancient Athenian statesman and naval commander Themistocles was called 'the most illustrious Greek of his time'. In a dizzying rise to power he masterminded victory over Persia at Salamis, helping to preserve Greek freedom, yet his life was a rollercoaster of dazzling brilliance and catastrophic misjudgement. In this electrifying talk, top historian Michael Scott, presenter of BBC1's Rome's Invisible City, uncovers the drama of his rise and fall and offers a vivid insight into the turbulent world of ancient Athens.

The Tragic Tale of the Berkeley Pioneers

Mark Horton 8-9pm £10 / £7 Livestreamed

Top archaeologist and BBC Coast presenter Mark Horton tells the tragic story of the 38 settlers from Gloucestershire's Berkeley Vale who sailed to America to found a colony on the James River. They're credited with the very first American thanksgiving, but by 1622, the surviving 22 settlers were attacked and murdered and the colony destroyed. Over 400 years later Mark returned to Virginia and used archaeology to locate the original site. He shares their fascinating story and reveals new discoveries about their tragic fate.

Follow the signs to the Scriptorium, part of Britain's oldest surviving library building. Enjoy free events, relax with a coffee and choose a book from the Little Library. Open 9am - 8pm.

Forest of Dean Miners: The General Strike John Bassett 1.15-1.45pm / Free

In this special performance from Spaniel in the Works theatre company, meet two Forest of Dean miners who have both taken part in the General Strike of 1926. Harry Jackson is a miner who stayed out in the hope of a decent settlement whilst Davey Wilkes is a strike breaker who returned early. Join them to hear the reasons behind the General Strike, the hardships incurred and two views about 'the best thing to do'.

Breaking Bread: How Baking Shaped Our World David Wright 2.30-4pm £12

Award-winning third-generation baker David Wright traces the story of bread from the first cultivated grains of the Fertile Crescent in c.8000 BC to the rise of industrial sliced loaves in the 1960s and today's sourdough revival. What role did bread play in ancient Egypt and Rome, the Great Fire of London, the Peterloo Massacre or conflicts today in Ukraine and Gaza? And what does the future hold for the humble loaf?

The talk is followed by an artisan bread and pastry tasting in the scriptorium from 3.30-4pm.

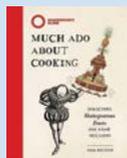

Life Lessons from History Janina Ramirez & Dave Musgrove 5.15pm-5.55pm / Free

Join us for a live History Extra podcast recording as Janina Ramirez and David Musgrove explore the power of history to change lives.

Del: Becoming A Voice for Young People Delroy Ellis 7.15-8pm / Free

Join youth worker and campaigner Delroy Ellis as he discusses his powerful new memoir, Del, charting his journey from adversity to leadership. It is a story of resilience and belonging and of one man's determination to transform opportunities for young people in Gloucester and beyond.
